This document also specifies the requirements for the pre-treatment of test materials and the conditioning of specimens before testing. This document lists properties and test methods suitable and necessary for characterizing polypropylene (PP) molding and extrusion materials. These properties are selected from the general test methods of GB/T 19467.1. This document also lists other test methods extensively applied or of special significance for molding and extrusion materials, as well as the determination methods of the properties designation in Part 1. In order to ensure that the test results are reproducible and repeatable, it is necessary to use the methods of specimen preparation and conditioning specified in this document, as well as the specified specimen sizes and test methods. The test data obtained using specimens prepared under different conditions or using specimens of different sizes may not be consistent.
