When Your License Is Under Attack Tony Bertolino,2017-03-08 Are you a Texas nurse, physician, pharmacist, dentist, real estate agent or broker whose professional Texas license has been threatened? If so, the implications of this challenge are profound. What should you do? How can you skillfully react to protect your professional credentials, learn from what's happened to you and course correct your career as necessary? This survival guide explains the process and shows you what you need to do to defend yourself after receiving a complaint letter or notice in the mail. If you violated a Texas law or Board Rule, you could face sanctions, suspension and even a revocation of the license you worked hard to attain. We will go over how to respond strategically, how to minimize disruption to your career or business, how to maximize compliance and how to deal with indirect consequences of the crisis, such as self esteem issues, problems at home or with business partners, and uncertainty about your next steps. License Defense Attorney, Tony R. Bertolino, is on a mission to help professionals keep their licenses when those licenses are under attack by a Texas state agency, board or commission. This book aims to educate, inspire and lift up those professionals, so that they can continue to do the good work they are passionate about doing.
