"The Sons of Pigs and Apes" Neil J. Kressel, 2012-08-01 From the 1950s through the 1990s, antisemitism everywhere seemed to be on the wane. But as Neil Kressel documents in this startling book, the Muslim world has resurrected in recent decades almost every diatribe that more than two millennia of European hostility produced against the Jews, and it has introduced many homegrown and novel modes of attack. Though it is impossible to determine precisely how many of the world's 1.2 billion Muslims hold anti-Jewish beliefs, Kressel finds that much bigotry comes from the highest levels of religious and political leadership. Compounding the problem, as Kressel demonstrates, many in the West refuse to recognize this issue. The growing epidemic of hate has been largely ignored, misunderstood, or downplayed, Kressel reveals, because of apathy, ignorance, confusion, bigotry, ideology, purported pragmatism, and misguided multiculturalism. Those who value human rights ignore antisemitism at their own risk, he cautions, noting that no antisemitic regime or movement has ever been otherwise reasonable or progressive. Kressel argues convincingly that Muslim antisemitism provides an acid test of the seriousness of Western liberalism. If the West fails to stem this growing tide, as now seems likely, future affairs will not go well for the true proponents of democracy. Kressel moves beyond sounding the alarm to explore the diverse religious, political, social, and psychological forces that have created and nurtured the new hostility to Jews in the Muslim world; he concludes with a bold and clear plan for what must be done to confront this hostility.

Mergers and Acquisitions American Bar Association. Section of Antitrust Law, 2004 A comprehensive review of U.S. substantive merger law, this book gives you indispensable guidance you can put into practice today.

Corporate Power and Human Rights Manette Kaisershot, Nicholas Connolly, 2018-02-02 There is ample evidence about the negative effects business activity of all types can have on the provision of human rights. Equally, there can be little doubt economic development, usually driven through business activity and trade, is necessary for any state to provide the institutions and infrastructure necessary to secure and provide human rights for their citizens. The United Nations and businesses recognise this tension and are collaborating to effect change in business behaviours through voluntary initiatives such as the Global Compact and John Ruggie's Guiding Principles. Yet voluntary approaches are evidently failing to prevent human rights violations and there are few alternatives in law for affected communities to seek justice. This book seeks to robustly challenge the current status quo of business approaches to human rights in order to develop meaningful alternatives in an attempt to breach the gap between the realities of business and human rights and its discourse. This book was previously published as a special issue of the International Journal of Human Rights.

Econometrics American Bar Association. Section of Antitrust Law, 2005 The economic expert has become a central figure in virtually every antitrust litigation or merger matter, and the importance of econometrics has increased significantly. A basic understanding of econometric principles has now become almost essential to the serious antitrust practitioner. This volume is designed to introduce lawyers to the theoretical and practical issues of econometrics, providing necessary tools for working effectively with economic experts on both sides of a matter. -- from the Foreword, p. xv.

Annual Report on Exchange Arrangements and Exchange Restrictions 2006 International Monetary Fund. Monetary and Capital Markets Department,2006-09-25 The Annual Report on Exchange Arrangements and Exchange Restrictions (AREAER) has been published by the IMF since 1950. It is a unique publication based on a database maintained by the IMF that tracks exchange arrangements and foreign exchange systems for all member countries on an annual basis and also provides historical information on these. The introduction to the volume provides a summary of recent global trends and developments in the areas covered by the publication. Individual country chapters report exchange measures in place, the structure and setting of the exchange rate, arrangements for payments and receipts, procedures for resident and nonresident accounts, mechanisms for import and export payments and receipts, controls on capital transactions, and provisions specific to the financial sector. A separate section in each chapter lists changes made during 2005 and the first part of 2006. The AREAER draws on information made available to the IMF from a number of sources, including during official staff visits to member countries, and has been prepared in close consultation with national authorities. The information is presented in a tabular format.

(Un)Civil War of Words Mamoun Fandy, 2007-05-30 As the war on terror rages, another battleground has quickly taken shape and is being waged on daily newscasts around the world. In the Arab world, al-Jazeera and Al-Arabiya are leading the fight. But do these news networks simply provide the news? Or, are they, as westerners suspect, tools used by governments and terrorists alike to relay their message to the man on the street as both Arab and Western leaders struggle to win the hearts and minds of millions of people? Fandy examines the impact that these and other news organizations have had on the war on terror, on the Arab world, and on the relationships that Arab nations share with each other, as well as those they share with the West. Focusing on al-Jazeera and other Arab networks, Fandy examines the battle between the Arab world and the West through the popular medium of television. He explores how autocratic governments control the media in order to preserve their own power while simultaneously engaging in a war of words, with their neighbors, the West, or many times, both.

YPJ is Breaking the Religious Shackles in Middle East Tajzan Sharif, 2018-01-09 The focus of this research paper is to examine reasons behind the rise of female fighters in Rojava (The Democratic Federation of Northern Syria). The Kurdish female fighters are in the YPJ (Womens Protection Units) militia as an all-female unit and they cooperate with the YPG (The Peoples Protection Units) militia as a mixed gender force. In 2012, YPJ was created to fight against the Syrian regime and protect its land and people. During the few years, since its creation, YPJ militia has become famous for being a unique military unit that is fiercely fighting against ISIS. This gave the world a chance to know these extraordinary women who even ISIS fears. Behind every narrative, there is an untold truth, and this is what the research in hand aims to reveal. There are several reasons behind the increase of the Kurdish female fighters. These reasons range from a common enemy to the desire to change the society in which these women live. The YPJ is a great example of a group with a feminist ideology whose dedication and purpose is to fight against the Islamic belief that women cannot participate in either politics or combat. The Kurds are the largest ethnic group in the world that is without an official state. Throughout history, the Kurds have been oppressed by colonizing states today known as Turkey, Syria, Iraq and Iran. It was not enough that the Kurds were denied their rights as humans, but they were the wrong kind of people, which led to Arabization and Islamization. The author will not take a specific time frame but rather analyze the phenomenon from a point of view where Islam is the cultural colonizer. This research explains in detail how de-colonization is appearing in a semi-autonomous region called Rojava. The case example of the research is an all-female unit called YPJ. The YPJ unit itself is revolutionary, but the unit alone does not explain the reasons behind the rise of female warriors in combat. Behind the revolutionary phenomenon is a man called Abdullah Öcalan and his thoughts of a better world for all women in the world. The keyword for this revolution is Democratic Confederalism.

The State of the World's Forests 2020 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, United Nations Environment Programme, 2020-05-01 As the United Nations Decade on Biodiversity 2011–2020 comes to a close and countries prepare to adopt a post-2020 global biodiversity framework, this edition of The State of the World's Forests (SOFO) examines the contributions of forests, and of the people who use and manage them, to the conservation and sustainable use of biodiversity. Forests cover just over 30 percent of the global land area, yet they provide habitat for the vast majority of the terrestrial plant and animal species known to science. Unfortunately, forests and the biodiversity they contain continue to be under threat from actions to convert the land to agriculture or unsustainable levels of exploitation, much of it illegal. The State of the World's Forests 2020 assesses progress to date in meeting global targets and goals related to forest biodiversity and examines the effectiveness of policies, actions and approaches, in terms of both conservation and sustainable development outcomes. A series of case studies provide examples of innovative practices that combine conservation and sustainable use of forest biodiversity to create balanced solutions for both people and the planet.

Blant slaver og sjørøvere Tore L. Nilsen, 2014-06-05 Bergenshus festning, høsten 1752: I en liten celle sitter den 29 år gamle skipperen Jacob Andersen Dischingthun, dømt til døden for brudd på en frakttavtale etter et sjørøveroverfall i Middelhavet. Han har under fangenskapet mistet både kone og to barn i sykdom og livet ser ut til å være over for den en gang så løfterike mannen. Tjue år senere er han en rik og anerkjent mann på den dansk-norske koloniøya St. Croix i Karibia. Han er overlos og havnemester på øya. I tillegg driver han sitt eget verft i byen Christiansted, hvor han lever i en staselig bolig med sin nye familie. Da sjøfartshistorikeren Tore L. Nilsen begynte å nøste i trådene etter skipper Jacob, tegnet det seg raskt et bilde av en norsk Lord Jim, en mann som maktet å reise seg etter et dypt personlig fall. Etter sitt ulykkelige fangenskap foretok han noen turer som skipper i slavefarten mellom Afrika og Karibia, før han tok hyre som styrmann i koloniens orlogsvesen. I orlogstjenesten bidro han til å hindre smugling og kaperangrep, før han avsluttet karrieren som en høyt aktet person i kolonien. Prosessen med å avdekke Jacobs historie har tatt mange år og brakt forfatteren til arkiver i inn og utland, samt spennende steder som Tunisia, Marokko og St.Croix. I tillegg til å skildre et eventyrlig liv, gir denne boka et sjeldent møte med sjøfart og slavehandel på 1700-tallet og med livet i den dansknorske kolonien. Tore L. Nilsen (f. 1949) er historiker, forfatter og direktør ved Bergens Sjøfartsmuseum. Han har tidligere skrevet flere bøker og artikler om norsk og bergensk sjøfartshistorie. Han fattet først interesse for Jacob Andersen Dischingthun på slutten av 70-tallet og har siden i flere perioder forsket på hans oppsiktsvekkende liv.

Transforming Rural Communities in China and Beyond Ying Zhu,Hong Lan,David A. Ness,Ke Xing,Kris Schneider,Seung-Hee Lee,Jing Ge,2014-11-01 This book represents one of the first attempts by a multidisciplinary research team, encompassing the social sciences, business, architecture and planning, engineering, and finance and economics, to help rural communities discover sustainable and self-reliant paths to development and transformation. The opening chapter outlines the background of the research, its importance in the context of China and other countries, the rationale for choosing the case study communities in rural China, and the composition of the research team. Chapter 2 explores key issues in the role of social entrepreneurship and leadership in rural community development. Chapter 3 analyses a green platform for a pilot transaction of China forest carbon sinks led by the Huadong Forestry Exchange. The fourth chapter examines carbon trade, forestry land rights, and the livelihoods of farmers in rural Chinese communities. Chapter 5 explores alternative energy development in rural Chinese communities, where the poor are often disproportionately dependent on fuel wood and solid biomass, causing environmental degradation, reduced productivity and the decline of income generating opportunities. Chapter 6 examines and tests the proposition that stronger communities will result from ‘connected up’, holistic, synergistic and inclusive planning of services and supporting infrastructure. Chapter 7 analyzes information and communications technology (ICT) based service innovations for supporting rural community enterprises. Chapter 8 highlights key elements of stronger rural communities, drawing together the themes and proposals of preceding chapters and constructing an integrated model. The authors demonstrate that interconnected community enterprises based on clean forest products, forest carbon and ecotourism can be underpinned by local infrastructure enterprises such as renewable energy, water, waste management, ICT and transport, and financial mechanisms like carbon finance, all involving skills development, leadership and social entrepreneurship coupled with corporate and investment partnerships. Such interconnected approaches are expected to generate increased employment and prosperity, improve social livelihoods, and benefit the environment.

Tree Biotechnology Kishan Gopal Ramawat, Jean-Michel Mérillon, M. R. Ahuja, 2014-04-01 Forest trees cover 30% of the earth's land surface, providing renewable fuel, wood, timber, shelter, fruits, leaves, bark, roots, and are source of medicinal products in addition to benefits such as carbon sequestration, water shed protection, and habitat for 1/3 of terrestrial species. However, the genetic analysis and breeding of trees has lagged behind that of crop plants. Therefore, systematic conservation, sustainable improvement and pragmatic utilization of trees are global priorities. This book provides comprehensive and up to date information about tree characterization, biological understanding, and improvement through biotechnological and molecular tools.

Derecho, comercio y etiquetado nutricional Guarnizo Peralta, Diana,Urueña Hernández, René,Carballo, Juan Martin,2022-09-19 La situación de sobrepeso y obesidad es uno de los asuntos más urgentes en la agenda de salud global. América Latina es una de las regiones que reportan un alto consumo de bebidas azucaradas y productos ultraprocesados en el mundo, lo que hace a su población más vulnerable frente a enfermedades no transmisibles (ENTs). Con el fin de promover ambientes alimentarios y hábitos de consumo más saludables, la OMS y OPS han recomendado a los Estados que adopten un conjunto de medidas dentro de las que se encuentra la adopción de un etiquetado nutricional de advertencia basado en la mejor evidencia científica disponible. Distintos países de la región como Chile, México y Perú han adoptado el modelo de sellos de advertencia octagonal, el cual ha mostrado, además, su efectividad. Sin embargo, su adopción en estos y otros países de la región no ha sido fácil. La industria de ultraprocesados comestibles se ha opuesto a este modelo con argumentos que van desde lo económico, lo político y, también, lo jurídico.

Frecuentemente ha argumentado que esta medida vulnera los acuerdos internacionales en materia económica pese a que la normativa internacional permite excepciones legítimas en favor de la salud pública. Esta publicación busca aportar al debate sobre la adopción de un etiquetado nutricional desde dos perspectivas. De una lado, desde una perspectiva legal, los autores reflexionan sobre los principales argumentos que se exponen en contra de esta medida de salud pública y aportan argumentos del derecho internacional para contestarlos; de otro lado, desde una perspectiva vivencial, los autores ofrecen un recuento de cómo lograron impulsar esta política de salud pública en sus países y cómo sortearon la oposición a esta. El libro es una reflexión desde el Sur Global hacia el mundo, sobre el etiquetado frontal de advertencia: una de las políticas de prevención de obesidad más importantes de los últimos años. Un libro para académicos, activistas y estudiosos de las interacciones entre salud pública, derecho y comercio internacional.
