Measuring and Managing Federal Financial Risk Deborah Lucas, 2010-04-15 The U.S. government is the world's largest financial institution, providing credit and assuming risk through diverse activities. But the potential cost and risk of these actions and obligations remain poorly understood and only partially measured. Government budgetary and financial accounting rules, which largely determine the information available to federal decision makers, have only just begun to address these issues. However, recently there has been a push to rethink how these programs are valued and accounted for, and some progress has been made in applying modern valuation methods—such as options pricing, risk-adjusted discount rates, and value at risk—to these types of obligations. This book contains new research, both empirical and methodological, on the measurement and management of these costs and risks. The analyses encompass a broad spectrum of federal programs, including housing, catastrophe insurance, student loans, social security, and environmental liabilities. Collectively, the contributions gathered in Measuring and Managing Federal Financial Risk demonstrate that the logic of financial economics can be a useful tool for studying a range of federal activities.

This forty-day devotional will challenge you to confront your traditions, grow your faith, and prepare for what's ahead. As our world grows increasingly uncertain, many are anticipating an unprecedented move of God is just around the corner. Will those who have focused on the Spirit be the catalysts? Or those who have focused on the Word? Perhaps neither! This devotional is designed to prepare your heart for a glorious last-days awakening and shake you free from old paradigms that hinder the move of God. Drawing on teaching from his historic 1992 address at Wembley Conference Centre in London, R. T. Kendall takes you on a forty-day journey to make your heart ready for what he prophetically describes as a coming revival. Usher in a revival that is: Not based on feelings or emotions Inspired by God's Word Fulfilled through the conviction and direction of the Holy Spirit
