Family of Families Milano Authors LLC,2021-07-26 Family of Families: Spirit of Liberty is a fictionalized account about families over several generations and is the second of three Family of Families series. Though fiction, all the individuals were real, except for some of those introduced by a first name only. They were the everyday common people who all had goals of liberation and a better world. Though a fictional narration, places and dates are as accurate as possible. Some of the stories contained, however, happened as portrayed. The storyline is intended to reflect life as largely experienced by the common individual during their time. A listing of references provides sources for any reader wanting to learn more. It also provides credit for contributing to this Family of Families: Spirit of Liberty story. The story is a continuation of the Family of Families: Spirit of Freedom story and depicts families who struggled through daily life as the lack of a more perfect union caused strife for the new states and commonwealths of America. Everyday citizens nonetheless did what was needed to survive through the Civil War and advanced the cause of liberty. The primary character is the spirit of liberty. This spirit is portrayed within the various individuals as they sought liberty within the backdrop of a country struggling to become more perfect. Confessions of a Presidential Speechwriter Craig R. Smith,2014-02-01 An avid high school debater and enthusiastic student body president, Craig Smith seemed destined for a life in public service from an early age. As a sought-after speechwriter, Smith had a front-row seat at some of the most important events of the twentieth century, meeting with Robert Kennedy and Richard Nixon, advising Governor Ronald Reagan, writing for President Ford, serving as a campaign manager for a major U.S. senator’s reelection campaign, and writing speeches for a contender for the Republican nomination for president. Life in the volatile world of politics wasn’t always easy, however, and as a closeted gay man, Smith struggled to reconcile his private and professional lives. In this revealing memoir, Smith sheds light on what it takes to make it as a speechwriter in a field where the only constant is change. While bouncing in and out of the academic world, Smith transitions from consultantships with George H. W. Bush and the Republican caucus of the U.S. Senate to a position with Chrysler CEO Lee Iacocca. When Smith returns to Washington, D.C., as president and founder of the Freedom of Expression Foundation, he becomes a leading player on First Amendment issues in the nation’s capital. Returning at long last to academia, Smith finds happiness coming out of the closet and reaping the benefits of a dedicated and highly successful career.

The chapters here give insight into the process and development of presidential speechwriting from Roosevelt's administration to Reagan's.
