Cities around the World [2 volumes] Jing Luo, 2019-07-10 This two-volume set offers a comprehensive overview of major challenges faced by cities worldwide in the 21st century, and how cities in different geographic, economic, and political conditions are finding solutions to them. This two-volume encyclopedia examines ten critical issues that face cities across the globe today—environmental and societal struggles that affect the daily lives of city dwellers. Readers will gain a better understanding of our global neighbors and will be able to use this book in order to compare and contrast different approaches to critical issues in our world. Volume One examines employment and jobs; energy and sustainability; green spaces; housing and infrastructure; and migration and demographic changes. Volume Two discusses pollution; schools; traffic and transportation; violence, corruption, and organized crime; and waste management. Each issue begins with an introduction providing an overview of the issue from a global perspective. Following the introduction are ten alphabetically arranged world city profiles of cities that are struggling with the issue and cities that have found innovative solutions to deal with the crisis. The profiles explain how the problem came to be; consequences inhabitants face, such as compromised health, limited access to education, and high taxes with low wages; and failed and successful initiatives taken by city management.

A Possible World Heikki Patomäki, Teivo Teivainen, 2004-10 Publisher Description

China, India and the International Economic Order Muthucumaraswamy Sornarajah, Jiangyu Wang, 2010-08-26 With contributions by a variety of internationally distinguished scholars on international law, world trade, business law and development, this unique examination of the roles of China and India in the new world economy adopts the perspectives of international economic law and comparative law. The two countries are compared with respect to issues concerning trade and development, the World Trade Organization, international dispute settlement, regional/free trade agreements, outsourcing, international investment, foreign investment, corporate governance, competition law and policy, and law and development in general. The findings demonstrate that, though their domestic approaches to economic issues diverge, China and India adopt similar stances at the international level on many major issues, recapturing images which existed during the immediate post-colonial era. Cooperation between China and India could provide leadership in the struggle for economic development in developing countries.

Development, Trade, and the WTO Bernard M. Hoekman, Aaditya Mattoo, Philip English, 2002 Publisher's description: Developing countries are increasingly confronted with the need to address trade policy related issues in international agreements, most prominently the World Trade Organization (WTO). New WTO negotiations on a broad range of subjects were launched in November 2001. Determining whether and how international trade agreements can support economic development is a major challenge. Stakeholders in developing countries must be informed on the issues and understand how their interests can be pursued through international cooperation. This handbook offers guidance on the design of trade policy reform, surveys key disciplines and the functioning of the World Trade Organization (WTO), and discusses numerous issues and options that confront developing countries in using international cooperation to improve domestic policy and obtain access to export markets. Many of the issues discussed are also relevant in the context of regional integration agreements. Separate sections of the handbook summarize what constitutes sound trade policy; the major aspects of the WTO from a development perspective; policy issues in the area of merchandise trade and the liberalization of international transactions in services; protection of intellectual property rights and economic development; new regulatory subjects that are emerging in the agenda of trade talks; and enhancing participation of developing countries in the global trading system.

The Internet of People for a Post-oil World Christian Nold, Rob van Kranenburg, 2011 Christian Nold and Rob van Kranenburg articulate the foundations of a future manifesto for an Internet of Things in the public interest. Nold and Kranenburg propose tangible design interventions that challenge an internet dominated by commercial tools and systems, emphasizing that people from all walks of life have to be at the table when we talk about alternate possibilities for ubiquitous computing. Through horizontally scaling grass roots efforts along with establishing social standards for governments and companies to allow cooperation, Nold and Kranenberg argue for transforming the Internet of Things into an Internet of People--Publisher's Web site.

Global Political Economy John Ravenhill, 2011-01-13 Dealing with the central themes and issues of the subject, this text outlines the different theoretical approaches of the global political economy, as well as engaging key contemporary debates such as worldwide trade and production.

Religion and Revolution John Andrew Morrow, 2012-03-15 Religion and Revolution provides a comprehensive study of spiritual and political Islām in Ernesto Cardenal, the great Latin American poet, priest, and revolutionary. The work studies the relationship between Thomas Merton and Şūfism, Cardenal's connection to spiritual Islām, as well as the Şūfī sources cited in his Cosmic Canticle. The work equally examines the impact of political Islām on his ideology, focusing particularly on his trip to Iran during the very triumph of the Islāmic Revolution. Using Cardenal's "Interlude of the Revolution in Iran" as a starting point, the work provides a vivid and detailed description of the early days of the revolution as well as the ties between the Islāmic Republic of Iran and the Latin American left.

Arabs in the Americas Darcy Zabel, 2006 Offering more than just an introduction or a celebration of the Arab American presence in the Americas, the essays in this book aim at expanding readers' understanding of what it means to be part of the Arab diaspora and to live in the Americas.

Innovation in Healthy and Functional Foods Dilip Ghosh, Shantanu Das, Debasis Bagchi, R.B. Smarta, 2016-04-19 The focus of food science and technology has shifted from previous goals of improving food safety and enhancing food taste toward providing healthy and functional foods. Today's consumers desire foods that go beyond basic nutrition--foods capable of promoting better health, or even playing a disease-prevention role. To meet this need for innovation,

Neue Urbane Landwirtschaft Karge, Toni, 2016-01-29 Die Forschungsarbeit „Neue Urbane Landwirtschaft“ setzt sich zunächst stadttheoretisch mit den urbanen Gärten und ihrer Bedeutung in der Stadt auseinander, analysiert anschließend das Berliner Gemeinschaftsgartenprojekt Himmelbeet auf seine Akteurskonstellationen. In der stadttheoretischen Auseinandersetzung werden die europäische Stadtbaugeschichte (vom römischen Reich bis heute) und die stadutopische Ideengeschichte (von Morus' Utopia bis Callenbachs Ecotopia) auf Aussagen zu urbanen Gärten untersucht und der Frage nachgegangen, inwieweit urbane Gärten Teil der europäischen Stadt waren und sind. Zudem wird die urbane Landwirtschaft im stadtsoziologischen Diskurs um Stadt und Land verortet. Einer Darstellung der bisherigen Entwicklung der neuen urbanen Landwirtschaft (Initiierungen in den USA, in Kuba, Deutschland und Österreich) und einer Verortung im politischen Diskurs um Globalisierungskritik, ökologische Nachhaltigkeit und sozialen Zusammenhalt folgt eine Analyse der Zusammenhänge zwischen Gärten und genderspezifischen Aspekten, in der der These nachgegangen wird, ob Gärten nach wie vor weiblich konnotierte Genderterritorien sind. Die fallbezogene Akteursanalyse im zweiten Teil basiert auf einer einjährigen ethnographischen Untersuchung des Berliner Gemeinschaftsgartens Himmelbeet nach der Methode des Participatory Action Research. Im Gegensatz zu bisherigen Untersuchungen wird hier auf die Entstehungszeit vor der Eröffnung des Gartens fokussiert. Dabei werden Schlüsselakteure (Stimuli, Türöffner, Veto-Akteure), und Akteursgruppen identifiziert und anhand ihrer Beiträge auf den Ebenen Ideen, Netzwerk, Finanzen, Arbeit und Macht nach den fünf Phasen Initiierung, Konsolidierung, Planung, Änderung, Realisierung in einem Akteursmapping gegenübergestellt. Neben selbstnutzenden Primärakteuren, werden auch im Entstehungsprozess involvierte Sekundärakteure sowie Tertiärakteure (institutionelle Rahmen) betrachtet. Zudem liefert eine Gender- und Exklusionsanalyse Erkenntnisse über die integrative Wirkung des Gartenprojekts in seiner Entstehungszeit. Die Ergebnisse der Akteursanalyse werden auf die theoretischen Zusammenhänge des ersten Teils übertragen und auf Widersprüche und Bestätigungen hin überprüft. Begleitet wird die Forschungsarbeit von Kurzexkursen zu urbanen Gärten in Aarhus, Barcelona, Frankfurt, Köln, Mailand und München. The research project 'New Urban Agriculture' (original title 'Neue Urbane Landwirtschaft') deals with urban gardens including their significance for cities. Further, it analyses the communal project 'Himmelbeet' (trans. 'haven patch') located in Berlin on the basis of its constellation of actors. With regards to an urban theoretical debate, Europe's special planning history (from the Roman Empire to today), as well as the idea of urban utopian historicity (from Morus' Utopia to Callenbach's Ecotopia) are analysed in terms of their assertions about urban gardens. It elicits the question as to which degree urban gardens have been and are part of European Cities. Moreover, urban agriculture is located within the urban sociological discourse on city and country. After an illustration of hitherto established development by new movements of urban gardens (including initiatives in USA, Cuba, Germany and Austria), and after its location within political discourse and anti-globalisation movement, ecological sustainability and social solidarity; an analysis of gardens with regards to gender-specific aspects is conducted which critically examines the thesis for gardens as still being feminine connoted gender-territories. The actor's analysis in the second part of the research project rests on an ethnographic case examination of the communal garden project 'Himmelbeet' in Berlin and deploys the method of Participatory Action Research. In contrast to recent studies, focus of the thesis at hand is the formation period before the garden's actual opening. Both key actors (stimuli, door openers, veto-agents), and actor groups are herein characterised by means of levels of their contribution with regards to ideas, network, finances, work and power. The outcomes are further categorised by 5 phases: initiation, consolidation, planning, alternation, realisation, and juxtaposed with an agent mapping. Besides users as primary actors, procedurally involved secondary and tertiary actors (e.g. institutional frame) are investigated. A gender and exclusion investigation generates insights about integrative effects of the garden project during its initiation period. The outcomes of the actor-based analysis are conveyed to theoretical relations of the first part and critically evaluated in terms of dissents and confirmations of the latter. The research project is accompanied by brief excursions to urban gardens in Aarhus, Barcelona, Frankfurt, Cologne, Milan and Munich.

The Principle of National Treatment in the GATT Mattia Melloni, 2005 The analysis of the principle of national treatment in the GATT has shown many weaknesses or flaws over the years. The language used by GATT/WTO panels and the Appellate Body in interpreting the two prongs of it, namely, likeness and protection, lags behind economic reality. This study reveals those flaws or weaknesses and offers a clearer and sounder legal analysis based on economic criteria. Marrying law with economics seems to me to better help the WTO promulgate transparency amongst its Members while offering them legal certainty. Analogies with the law and the reasoning of the investigating authorities in the United States and the European Communities are drawn to support the legal arguments.

Как я провел на Кубе. Неформатный проезд – I (2007) Б. Кош, 2021-06-16 Кубу автор подарил сам себе на день рождения в 2007 году. Куба затянула, и за десять с лишним поездок автор изучил ее основательно. В основном, однако, не с пляжно-отельной стороны, а неформатно. Эта книга открывает серию травелогов о Кубе, и рассказывает о самом первом путешествии 2007 года на остров. Тут будет и путешествие на остров Исла де ла Хувентуд, и знакомство с жрецами сантерии, и неудавшаяся попытка проехаться на поезде Херши. А также более четырехсот фотографий, сделанных автором.

Cyberfeminism. Next Protocols Claudia Reiche, Verena Kuni, 2004 In the beginning cyberFeminism. next protocols was a call posted on mailing lists by the old boys network, the first international cyberfeminist alliance. Now cyberFeminism. next protocols is a book that presents an introduction as well as an outlook for the large network of contemporary cyberfeminism. Protocols are both scientific records of observations and coded commands for digital and human procedures of communication. next protocols reaches boldly into the utopian gap between the now and its possible futures. If gender is not obsolete, there is a stake in reformulating it under conditions ruled by the dominance of the digital medium and test its capacities to subvert cultural practices. cyberFeminism carries the Fem in its center - Fem which hints politically at gender and the female sex, yet exceeds, enjoys, and remodels this relation. With approaches coming from art, theory and activism, cyberFeminism. next protocols invents and documents a cyberFeminism which is dedicated to the wilderness of precise critique and experimental thinking.
