A Guy Named Chuck Charles Duke, 2020-03-16 Finally, it stopped raining for a bit. Monsoon season was tapering off in the hill country. If only the temperature would stay steady, there would be a smell of change in the air. A few flowers like henbit and dead nettle are blooming. A few of Chuck's bees can be seen flying to and from the few dandelions in the yard and buzzing around the homemade bee hives. Chuck is a simple guy, in his late thirties, but he's had a very complicated and troublesome past. For years, Chuck has been traveling on a rough journey, all around the country and in lands far away. He's even been to a few places you've probably never heard of. He's met many interesting people and has been on many amazing adventures. He's got a wonderful wife and kids and things are finally starting to work out in his life. But Chuck still has a long way to go. Chuck has struggled with the consequences of some of his past adventures for a long time, but he's never quite understood or even remembered some things because he stuffed so much into a big box in the darkest corner of his mind, just so he could try his best to never show his weaknesses to the world around him. But, recently, he's been starting to make some progress in untangling the mess of memories by digging into that box so he can try to get rid of some of the screams and flashes that come from it. Has Chuck opened Pandora's Box? On a bright, sunny day, Chuck sat outside with his dogs, Lou and Dizzy. They all three enjoyed the fresh air and sunshine, when Chuck was feeling motivated and could keep the demons and memories of his past from totally taking over him. He sat in his favorite rocker on the porch, with both of his dogs at his feet. A simple, black notebook and a pen laid on the porch railing, open to a page with fresh writing. Chuck's feather pen laid on top of the open notebook. The first sentence in today's therapy writing read, So no crap, there I was.....

The Journals of Charles W. Chesnutt Charles Waddell Chesnutt, Richard H. Brodhead, 1993

Born on the eve of the Civil War, Charles W. Chesnutt grew up in Fayetteville, North Carolina, a county seat of four or five thousand people, a once-bustling commercial center slipping into postwar decline. Poor, black, and determined to outstrip his modest beginnings and forlorn surroundings, Chesnutt kept a detailed record of his thoughts, observations, and activities from his sixteenth through his twenty-fourth year (1874-1882). These journals, printed here for the first time, are remarkable for their intimate account of a gifted young black man's dawning sense of himself as a writer in the nineteenth century. Though he achieved literary success in his time, Chesnutt has only recently been rediscovered and his contribution to American literature given its due. The only known private diary from a nineteenth-century African American author, these pages offer a fascinating glimpse into Chesnutt's everyday experience as he struggled to win the goods of education in the world of the post-Civil War South. An extraordinary portrait of the self-made man beset by the urgencies and difficulties of self-improvement in a racially discriminatory society, Chesnutt's journals unfold a richly detailed local history of postwar North Carolina. They also show with great force how the world of the postwar South obstructed--and, unexpectedly, assisted--a black man of driving intellectual ambitions.

An Act of Love for All Chuck Calderon, 2011-11-10 Synopsis An Act of Love for All is about a group of highly different individuals and how they are drawn together to be determining factors in the longest and greatest war in history. As mankind struggles with their daily lives, they remain unaware of the war being fought since before time itself on earth the war between heaven and hell. Gaither's Corner Chuck McCullough,2009-12-19 When one asks me if I believe in angels, I always answer yes! I cannot prove there are any otherworldly/spiritual beings “out there”; the angels in which I believe are those who have graced my life—some for long periods of time, others for but moments. Whichever, at the time, each was crucial to my emotional survival. Most of these I list in categories, as to name them individually would fill another book. First, I list my parents, Herman and Bertha McCullough, and siblings (Lee, Al, Eileen, Paul, and Doyle) who, though at times mystified by my struggles for faith, have loved me no less. Next, I mention the members of the church congregations I served (all United Methodists): Camp Creek Emmanuel and Manhattan College Avenue in Kansas and Rivera, Mission First, Oxford, and Helotes Hills in Texas. Others who hold a special place in my soul, listed from my youth forward, are Bob and Marie Gaither, Bill Gaither, J. T. Truax, Uncle Floyd Goins, cousin Howard Goins, Leo Slagg, Walter and Naomi Larsen, A. Bond Woodruff, Elmore E. Vail, Dick Neiderhiser, Jim Mitchell, Wendy Parsons, Delbert Gish, Joe Grider, Cecil Findley, Larry Guillot, Clyde Miller, Bob Winkler, Byron Hollinger, Muriel Hunkins, John Lewis, Mel Witmer, Bryce Kramer, Martin Pike, Jay Brown, Patty Johnson, Don Carper, Jerry J. Smith, Homer Bain, and my canasta-playing friends, who have endured twelve years of listening to my angry complaints against what I consider to be the madness of the status quo. My daughters, Kira and Dana, somehow survived despite my, at times, being adrift in near mental illness. Thus I am deeply indebted to their patience and love. And finally, I make tribute to my wife, Jean, who, though not religious, is the most nurturing—and, thus, spiritual—person I have ever known. - Xlibris Podcast Part 1:
