

🔍 NARRATIVE 🔍 STATE OF THE ART Michael Bamberg, 2007-03-14 NARRATIVE – STATE OF THE ART which was originally published as a Special Issue of NARRATIVE INQUIRY 16:1 (2006) is edited by Michael Bamberg and contains 24 chapters (with a brief introduction by the editor) that look back and take stock of developments in narrative theorizing and empirical work with narratives. The attempt has been made to bring together researchers from different disciplines, with very different concerns, and have them express their conceptions of the current state of the art from their perspectives. Looking back and taking stock, this volume further attempts to begin to deliver answers to the questions (i) What was it that made the original turn to narrative so successful? (ii) What has been accomplished over the last 40 years of narrative inquiry? (iii) What are the future directions for narrative inquiry? The contributions to this volume are deliberately kept short so that the readers can browse through them and get a feel about the diversity of current narrative theorizing and emerging new trends in narrative research. It is the ultimate aim of this edited volume to stir up discussions and dialogue among narrative researchers across these disciplines and to widen and open up the territory of narrative inquiry to new and innovative work.

🔍 ENDURANCE RUNNING William Bridel, Pirkko Markula, Jim Denison, 2015-10-05 RUNNING is a fundamental human activity and holds an important place in popular culture. In recent decades it has exploded in popularity as a leisure pursuit, with marathons and endurance challenges exerting a strong fascination. Endurance Running is the first collection of original qualitative research to examine distance running through a socio-cultural lens, with a general objective of understanding the concept and meaning of endurance historically and in contemporary times. Adopting diverse theoretical and methodological approaches to explore topics such as historical conceptualizations of endurance, lived experiences of endurance running, and the meaning of endurance in individual lives, the book reveals how the biological, historical, psychological, and sociological converge to form contextually specific ideas about endurance running and runners. Endurance Running is an essential book for anybody researching across the entire spectrum of endurance sports and fascinating reading for anybody working in the sociology of sport or the body, cultural studies or behavioural science.

🔍 NONLINEAR SYSTEMS Shankar Sastry, 2013-04-18 There has been much excitement over the emergence of new mathematical techniques for the analysis and control of nonlinear systems. In addition, great technological advances have bolstered the impact of analytic advances and produced many new problems and applications which are nonlinear in an essential way. This book lays out in a concise mathematical framework the tools and methods of analysis which underlie this diversity of applications.

🔍 THE SCIENCE OF STORIES János László, 2008-06-30 The Science of Stories explores the role narrative plays in human life. Supported by in-depth research, the book demonstrates how the ways in which people tell their stories can be indicative of how they construct their worlds and their own identities. Based on linguistic analysis and computer technology, Laszlo offers an innovative methodology which aims to uncover underlying psychological processes in narrative texts. The reader is presented with a theoretical framework along with a series of studies which explore the way a systematic linguistic analysis of narrative discourse can lead to a scientific study of identity construction, both individual and group. The book gives a critical overview of earlier narrative theories and summarizes previous scientific attempts to uncover relationships between language and personality. It also deals with social memory and group identity: various narrative forms of historical representations (history books, folk narratives, historical novels) are analyzed as to how they construct the past of a nation. The Science of Stories is the first book to build a bridge between scientific and hermeneutic studies of narratives. As such, it will be of great interest to a diverse spectrum of readers in social science and the liberal arts, including those in the fields of cognitive science, social psychology, linguistics, philosophy, literary studies and history.

🔍 CITY DIARY Anders Petersen, 2012 Anders Petersen’s books are some of the most collectable produced by any living photographer. City Diary is the beginning of an open-ended book series, commencing with 3 volumes in October 2009, which will be added to periodically. Together they will comprise one of the most exciting book works ever made.

🔍 RIITTA PAIVALAINEN, 2007-07 Helsinki School photographer Riitta Paivalainen’s pictures inquire about presence, absence and personhood by looking at abandoned garments that show the signs of passing time in faded colors and torn fabric, and seem to show some of the history of the person who wore them. Paivalainen, born in 1969 in Finland, places her cloth subjects in Finnish or English landscapes in order to cast them in a kind of performance; she often soaks them in water and puts them outside in winter to freeze stiff, seeming in their solidity to embody an absent wearer. The intimacy with which these garments have been known, the swiftness with which they have become scrap when cast off, and the three-dimensional sculptural qualities she imbues them with evoke related connections between nature, time and the human body.

🔍 ISLAM AGAINST THE WEST William L. Cleveland, 2011-08-01 This book gives a unique perspective on the interwar history of the Middle East. By telling the life story of one man, it illuminates the political and cultural struggles of an era. Shakib Arslan (1869–1946) was a leading member of the generation of Ottoman Arabs who came to professional maturity just before the final defeat of the Ottoman Empire. Born to a powerful Lebanese Druze family, Arslan grew up perfectly suited to his time and place in history. He was one of the leading writers of his day and a dexterous, ambitious politician. But, by the end of World War I, Arslan and others of his generation found themselves adrift in a world no longer of their choosing, as the once great Ottoman state lay broken before the West. Rather than retreating from public life in those dark days, however, Arslan emerged militant in his opposition to Western encroachment on Islamic lands and tireless in his crusade to bring the organizing principles of a universalist Islam to the age of emerging nation-states. Organizer, pamphleteer, diplomat, spokesman, and symbol, Arslan became one of the dominant, and most controversial, Muslim political figures in the two decades between the wars. His involvements were so varied and intense that to study his life is to bring into focus all the major political issues and intellectual currents of the era. By the end of his career he was both praised and vilified, but he was arguably the most widely read Arab author of his day. Curiously, Arslan has received relatively little attention in English-language research. This may well be due less to his contemporary importance than to the perspective from which Western scholarship has viewed Middle Eastern intellectual history. Arslan was not one of the winners. For many his evocation of the old imperial ideal and his insistence on the strategic importance of Islamic ideals seemed to be simply archaic protest in a secular age. But this impeccably researched and beautifully written biography demonstrates the power and importance of Arslan’s activist heritage, reinterpreting it for its own time and showing its importance for ours.

🔍 THE VENDETTA Honoré de Balzac, 2022-10-03 Fans of ‘The Godfather’ trilogy and ‘The Sopranos’ will know a thing or two about vendettas. In Honoré de Balzac’s 🔍 THE VENDETTA 🔍 , tragic consequences are laid bare. What begins as a love story between two Corsican immigrants, Ginevra and Luigi, soon becomes a tale of misery. Luigi is the sole survivor of a blood feud with Ginevra’s family. And Ginevra’s father Bartolomeo is determined to finish the job by killing Luigi. However, when the love-sick couple marries, he has to stay his hand – but he cuts them off, leaving them poverty-stricken. As Bartolomeo has an epiphany, his daughter is locked in a life-and-death struggle as she gives birth. Will she survive? And will her father get the chance to make things right? ‘The Vendetta’ is an excoriating attack on the nature of honour and a tale of tragic romance that calls to mind ‘Romeo and Juliet’ by William Shakespeare. Honoré 🔍 de Balzac 🔍 (1799-1850) was a French novelist and playwright, most famous for a sequence of novels, collectively called ‘The Human Comedy’. His signature style was awarts-and-all representation of post-Napoleonic French life, rich in detail and featuring complex, unfiltered characters. The style means Balzac is regarded as one of the pioneers of European literary realism. He is named as an influence on writers including Émile Zola, Henry James, Charles Dickens, and Gustave Flaubert. The first novel he published under his own name was ‘Les Chouans’ in 1829. In 1834 he hit upon the idea of grouping his novels together to record all of society. The result, over a period of years, was ‘The Human Comedy’, which comprised three categories: ‘Analytic Studies’; ‘Philosophical Studies’; and ‘Studies of Manners’.
