Peasant Icons Cathy A. Frierson, 1993 In the thirty years after Russian peasants were emancipated in 1861, they became a major focus of Russian intellectual life. This text is the first to examine the revealing images of the peasant created by Russian writers, scholars, journalists, and government officials during that period, as the identity and fate of the Russian peasant became an integral component in the future of Russia envisioned by liberal reformers and conservatives alike. Frierson examines the persisting stereotypes created by Tolstoy, Dostoevsky and other intellectuals seeking to understand village life, from the likable narod, the simple folk, to the exploitative kulak, the village strongman.

The Sorry Tale Patience Worth, 1997-06 The story of the invisible author who came to Mrs. John H. Curran and a friend in the summer of 1913 as they sat with a Ouija board across their knees. Many moons ago I lived. Again I come. Patience Worth is my name. from that time forward a continuo.

State of the World 2001 Lester Russell Brown, Worldwatch Institute, 2001 An indispensable guide for anyone concerned with the future of life on our planet.

The Cardinal's Mistress Benito Mussolini, 1928

The Chaneyville Incident David Bradley, 2013-08-06 Winner of the PEN/Faulkner: "Rivals Toni Morrison's Song of Solomon as the best novel about the black experience in America since Ellison's Invisible Man" (The Christian Science Monitor). Brilliant but troubled historian John Washington has left Philadelphia, where he is employed by a major university, to return to his hometown just north of the Mason-Dixon Line. He is there to care for Old Jack, one of the men who helped raise him when he was growing up on the Hill, an old black neighborhood in the little Pennsylvania town—but he also wants to learn more about the death of his father. What John discovers is that his father, Moses Washington, left behind extensive notes on a mystery he was researching: why thirteen escaped slaves reached freedom in Chaneyville only to die there, for reasons forgotten or never known at all. Based on meticulous historical research, The Chaneyville Incident explores the power of our pasts, and paints a vivid portrait of realities such as the Underground Railroad's activity in Bedford County, Pennsylvania, and the phenomenon of enslaved people committing suicide to escape their fate. This extraordinary novel, a finalist for the National Book Award, was described by the Los Angeles Times as “perhaps the most significant work by a new black male author since James Baldwin dazzled in the early '60s with his fine fury,” and placed David Bradley in the front ranks of contemporary American authors.

Nostalgic Postmodernism Christian Gutleben, 2021-10-18 Why do so many contemporary British novels revert to the Victorian tradition in order to find a new source of inspiration? What does it mean from an ideological point of view to build a modern form of art by resurrecting and recycling an art of the past? From a formal point of view what are the aesthetic priorities established by these postmodernist novels? Those are the main questions tackled by this study intended for anybody interested in the aesthetic and ideological evolution of very recent fiction. What this analysis ultimately proposes is a reevaluation and a redefinition of postmodernism such as it is illustrated by the British novels which paradoxically both praise and mock, honour and debunk, imitate and subvert their Victorian models. Unashamedly opportunistic and deliberately exploiting the spirit of the time, this late form of postmodernism cannibalizes and reshapes not only Victorianism but all the other previous aesthetic movements - including early postmodernism.

Dance of the Tiger Björn Kurtén,1995-10-10 Björn Kurtén's compelling novel gives the reader a detailed picture of life 35,000 years ago in Western Europe. One of the world's leading scholars of Ice Age fauna, Kurtén fuses extraordinary knowledge and imagination in this vivid evocation of our deepest past. This novel illuminates the lives of the humans who left us magnificent paintings in the caves of France and Spain.

Babouk Guy Endore,1991 Loosely based on the Haitian slave insurrection of 1791, Babouk is a biting account of colonialism at its peak. By using the imagination of the novelist to fill in the gaps in the historical record, Endore is able to show us how slavery felt to the slaves who experienced it. His novel is rare for its depiction of the shared history of the slaves and its attention to the variety of the slave experience. It provides the reader with a vivid history of Haiti and a compelling account of slavery and rebellion.

Witches' Rings Ekman Kerstin,2021-05-06 Stories, the narrator of Witches' Rings tells us, are wiser than we, and more mindful, and slowly they change us. Kerstin Ekman's stories are deeply committed to this very kind of gradual but inevitable change. Witches' Rings portrays the history of a rural society in a new light, tracing its development through the lives of working class women and children rather than authorities and decision-makers. The central character is a woman so anonymous that her name is not even mentioned on her gravestone. This novel, written in 1974, is the first volume of a tetralogy which follows a Swedish community through a hundred years of recent history to the present day. Kerstin Ekman (b. 1933) has often been described as the most prominent living Swedish novelist. She was a member of the Swedish Academy of Arts and Letters from 1978 to 1989 and has received several major literary prizes, including the Selma Lagerlöf prize in 1989.

Financing for Development Barry Herman, Federica Pietracci, Krishnan Sharma, 2001 In this publication, 21 authors including business executives and civil-society activists from developing and developed countries, address the question of how to boost the financing of development. Issues discussed include: micro credit and large-scale project finance; gender and poverty; bridging the digital divide; local and global environments for investment; domestic and international taxation; trade expansion; debt relief; official development assistance; and reform of the United Nations.

Population, Health and Development in Ghana Chuks J. Mba, Stephen O. Kwankye, 2007 The Millennium Development Goals address poverty, hunger, disease, illiteracy, environmental degradation, and discrimination against women, by the year 2015. In this volume scholars and policymakers in the fields of population and health reflect on the attainments of some of these goals, on the basis of empirical evidence in the Ghanaian context. The eight paper, with an introduction by the editors, synthesises papers presented at a seminar held in Ghana on 'Population, Health and Development in Relation to the Millennium Development Goals', organised by the Population Association of Ghana.

The Abduction Mette Newth, Tiina Nunnally, 1993 Based on the actual kidnapping of Inuit Eskimos by seventeenth-century traders, the story centers on Osuqo, an Inuit, and Christine, a Norwegian servant forced to guard her.

Unveiling the Power of Verbal Art: An Emotional Sojourn through Malentil.htm

In a world inundated with displays and the cacophony of fast communication, the profound power and psychological resonance of verbal artistry often disappear into obscurity, eclipsed by the constant barrage of noise and distractions. However, situated within the musical pages of Malentil.htm, a charming work of literary elegance that pulses with natural emotions, lies an memorable trip waiting to be embarked upon. Published with a virtuoso wordsmith, this mesmerizing opus courses visitors on a mental odyssey, gently exposing the latent potential and profound impact embedded within the delicate web of language. Within the heart-wrenching expanse of this evocative evaluation, we will embark upon an introspective exploration of the book's key subjects, dissect its interesting publishing design, and immerse ourselves in the indelible effect it leaves upon the depths of readers' souls.
