Decentralization of Forest Administration in Indonesia Christopher M. Barr, Ida Aju Pradnya Resosudarmo, Ahmad Dermawan, John McCarthy, Moira Moeliono, Bambang Setiono, 2006-01-01 Since the collapse of Soeharto's New Order regime in May 1998, Indonesia's national, provincial, and district governments have engaged in an intense struggle over how authority and the power embedded in it, should be shared. How this ongoing struggle over authority in the forestry sector will ultimately play out is of considerable significance due to the important role that Indonesia's forests play in supporting rural livelihoods, generating economic revenues, and providing environmental services. This book examines the process of forestry sector decentralization that has occurred in post-Soeharto Indonesia, and assesses the implications of more recent efforts by the national government to recentralize administrative authority over forest resources. It aims to describe the dynamics of decentralization in the forestry sector, to document major changes that occurred as district governments assumed a greater role in administering forest resources, and to assess what the ongoing struggle among Indonesia's national, provincial, and district governments is likely to mean for forest sustainability, economic development at multiple levels, and rural livelihoods. Drawing from primary research conducted by numerous scientists both at CIFOR and its many Indonesian and international partner institutions since 2000, this book sketches the sectoral context for current governmental reforms by tracing forestry development and the changing structure of forest administration from Indonesia's independence in 1945 to the fall of Soeharto's New Order regime in 1998. The authors further examine the origins and scope of Indonesia's decentralization laws in order to describe the legal-regulatory framework within which decentralization has been implemented both at the macro-level and specifically within the forestry sector. This book also analyses the decentralization of Indonesia's fiscal system and describes the effects of the country's new fiscal balancing arrangements on revenue flows from the forestry sector, and describes the dynamics of district-level timber regimes following the adoption of Indonesia's decentralization laws. Finally, this book also examines the real and anticipated effects of decentralization on land tenure and livelihood security for communities living in and around forested areas, and summarizes major findings and options for possible interventions to strengthen the forestry reform efforts currently underway in Indonesia.

Democratization in Post-Suharto Indonesia Marco Bunte,Andreas Ufen,2008-08-21 In May 1998 the fall of Suharto marked the beginning of a difficult and multi-layered transition process. It was accompanied by intensified conflict in the political arena, a dramatic increase of ethnic and religious violence and the danger of national disintegration. Ten years after the collapse of the New Order, Indonesia has made significant progress, however the quality of democracy is still low. Theoretically innovative and empirically sound, this book is an in-depth analysis of the Indonesian reform process since 1998. Marco Bünte and Andreas Ufen bring together a selection of noted Indonesia experts to provide new insights into the restructuring of core state institutions, the empowerment of Parliament, the slow and difficult evolution of the rule of law, and the transfer of power to locally elected regional governments (decentralization). Based on the results of extensive fieldwork, Democratization in Post-Suharto Indonesia will be an important read for scholars engaged in research on Indonesia and the politics of Southeast Asia.

possible picture of how Islam and constitutionalism can co-exist in the same vision, not without risk of tension, but with the possibility of success.

Military Courts, Civil-Military Relations, and the Legal Battle for Democracy Brett J. Kyle,Andrew G. Reiter,2020-12-22 The interaction between military and civilian courts, the political power that legal prerogatives can provide to the armed forces, and the difficult process civilian politicians face in reforming military justice remain glaringly under-examined, despite their implications for the quality and survival of democracy. This book breaks new ground by providing a theoretically rich, global examination of the operation and reform of military courts in democratic countries. Drawing on a newly created dataset of 120 countries over more than two centuries, it presents the first comprehensive picture of the evolution of military justice across states and over time. Combined with qualitative historical case studies of Colombia, Portugal, Indonesia, Fiji, Brazil, Pakistan, and the United States, the book presents a new framework for understanding how civilian actors are able to gain or lose legal control of the armed forces. The book's findings have important lessons for scholars and policymakers working in the fields of democracy, civil-military relations, human rights, and the rule of law.

Nationalism and Ethnic Conflict in Indonesia Jacques Bertrand, 2004 Since 1998, which marked the end of the thirty-three-year New Order regime under President Suharto, there has been a dramatic increase in ethnic conflict and violence in Indonesia. In his innovative and persuasive account, Jacques Bertrand argues that conflicts in Maluku, Kalimantan, Aceh, Papua, and East Timur were a result of the New Order's narrow and constraining reinterpretation of Indonesia's 'national model'. The author shows how, at the end of the 1990s, this national model came under intense pressure at the prospect of institutional transformation, a reconfiguration of ethnic relations, and an increase in the role of Islam in Indonesia's political institutions. It was within the context of these challenges, that the very definition of the Indonesian nation and what it meant to be Indonesian came under scrutiny. The book sheds light on the roots of religious and ethnic conflict at a turning point in Indonesia's history.

Forest and land-use governance in a decentralized Indonesia: A legal and policy review
Fitrian Ardiansyah, Andri Akbar Marthen, Nur Amalia, 2015-10-02 Which levels of government hold powers over forests and land use in Indonesia? Which powers and responsibilities are centralized, and which are decentralized? What role can citizens play? This report reviews the statutory distribution of powers and responsibilities across levels and sectors. It outlines the legal mandates held by national, regional and local governments with regard to land and forests, including titling, forest concessions, oil and minerals investments, oil palm plantations, conservation, land use planning, and more. The review considers national legislation as of 2014 and incorporates important reforms in early 2015.

After a short introduction, the second section describes the decentralization process, including mechanisms for public participation. The third section outlines sources of revenue available to different government levels from forest fees and payments for environmental services. The fourth section details the specific distribution of powers and arenas of responsibility related to multiple land use sectors across levels and among offices within levels, and the fifth and final section refers specifically to adat law. Summary tables are included for each different policy arena to facilitate analysis across government levels and functions: policy making, administration, control and monitoring, auditing and sanction.

Elections and Politics in Indonesia Leo Suryadinata,2002 An analysis of the 1999 Indonesian general election and subsequent presidential election in the context of Indonesian elections and politics. The book highlights major characteristics of Indonesian society and culture which affect electoral behaviour, namely ethnicity, regionalism and religion.

Secessionist Challenges in Aceh and Papua Rodd McGibbon,2004 This study investigates if special autonomy can resolve the secessionist challenges in Aceh and Papua. The analysis covers the background of the decision to grant special autonomy and the shifting dynamics that resulted in Jakarta ultimately backsliding on both laws. Without linking concessions to dialogue, Aceh and Papua are likely to represent a continuing source of conflict and secessionism for the Indonesian state.

Hak Asasi Manusia dalam Konstitusi Indonesia Majda El-Muhtaj, M.Hum,2017-01-01 Konstitusi dan jaminan atas hak asasi manusia (HAM) merupakan satu kesatuan yang mencerminkan kesinambungan gagasan dan praktik demokrasi konstitusional. Dalam perkembangannya, jaminan konstitusi atas HAM di Indonesia ini mengalami proses dialek-tika pemikiran yang sangat menarik untuk diamati. Pasca-Amendemen UUD 1945, materi muatan HAM mengalami reposisi yang signifikan. Bahkan, penerjemahan materi muatan HAM tersebut semakin positif setelah keluarnya Peraturan Presiden RI No. 23 Tahun 2011 tentang Rencana Aksi Nasional HAM Indonesia 2011-2014. Salah satu komitmen penting yang dimiliki Indonesia dalam kerangka kebijakan HAM yaitu Rencana Aksi Nasional HAM Indonesia/National Action Plan on Human Rights (Ranham). Saat ini, Ranham Indonesia telah memasuki gelombang ketiga yang sudah dimulai sejak gelombang pertama (1998-2003), gelombang kedua (2004-2009), dan gelombang ketiga (2011-2014). Buku ini secara khusus membahas konseptualisasi HAM dalam konstitusi Indonesia sejak UUD 1945 sampai dengan perubahan UUD 1945 Tahun 2002, dan hubungannya dengan penegakan hukum dan HAM tli Indonesia Buku Persembahan Penerbit PrenadaMedia -Kencana-

Democratisation in Indonesia After the Fall of Suharto Ingrid Wessel,2005 Papers from a workshop organized by the Southeast Asian Department of the Humboldt University in October 2004.

Negara Kedaulatan Rakyat Dr. Eddy Purnama, SH.,MH,2019-03-01 Semua negara di dunia menyatakan dirinya sebagai negara demokrasi, yaitu negara yang menerapkan prinsip kedaulatan rakyat dalam penyelenggaraan pemerintahannya, mulai dari pelembagaan sampai kepada sistem pemerintahan yang digunakan. Demokrasi pada umumnya mempunyai 2 macam pengertian, yaitu: dalam arti formal dan dalam arti material. Sebagai realisasi dari demokrasi dalam arti formal biasanya negara-negara menganut apa yang dinamakan indirect democracy; suatu demokrasi di mana pelaksanaan kedaulatan rakyat tidak dilaksanakan oleh rakyat secara langsung melainkan melalui lembaga perwakilan rakyat. Oleh karena itu, dalam negara demokrasi selalu ada lembaga perwakilan rakyat yang diatur di dalam Konstitusi atau Undang-Undang Dasarnya.

Rekonstruksi Politik Hukum Pangan Rachmat Safa'at, 2013-05-31 Permasalahan yang dikaji dalam buku ini terinspirasi oleh hasil penelitian sebelumnya yang dilakukan oleh penulis dengan teman sejawat peneliti yang lain yang memfokuskan kajiannya pada permasalahan yang dihadapi masyarakat adat dalam pengelolaan sumberdaya alam sejak tahun 1996 sampai 2008. Penelitian Pertama, dengan judul "Dampak Undang-Undang Pemerintahan Desa Terhadap Hak-hak Masyarakat Adat di Indonesia (Studi Kasus Pada Masyarakat Adat di Irian Jaya, Kalimatan, Pulau Tual, Pulau Haruku, dan Nusa Tenggara Timur)", yang didanai oleh Lembaga Studi dan Hak Asasi Manusia (ELSAM) dan USAID, (1996). Kedua, penelitian dengan judul "Penguatan Kelembagaan dan Hukum Masyarakat Adat Tengger Dalam Pengelolaan Sumber Daya Alam Berkelanjutan" didanai oleh LIPI dan MENRISTEK melalui program penelitian Riset Unggulan Terpadu, (1999-2001). Ketiga, penelitian berjudul Perlindungan Hukum Sistem Kearifan Lokal Dalam Pengelolaan Sumber Daya Alam Guna Mencapai Kedaulatan Pangan (Studi Kasus Pada Masyarakat Adat Tengger Desa Ngadas Kecamatan Poncokusumo Kabupaten Malang) yang didanai oleh Program Research Grant I-MHERE Universitas Brawijaya (2008). Hasil Penelitian tersebut menunjukkan bahwa keberadaan sistem hukum nasional yang sentralistik, hegemonik, ambivalen, dan sangat represif terhadap masyarakat adat telah menempatkan mereka pada posisi yang kalah, tersisih bahkan teralienasi dalam pergulatan memperebutkan kuasa hak atas pengelolaan sumberdaya alam. Melalui rangkaian penelitian yang panjang tersebut (1999-2009), peneliti kemudian ingin mengeksplorasi dan menganalisis lebih lanjut keberadaan politik hukum ketahanan pangan nasional, keberadaan sistem kearifan lokal masyarakat adat, khususnya masyarakat Adat Tengger Ngadas dalam pengelolaan sumber daya alam serta hambatan dan tantangan yang dihadapinya, khususnya dalam mewujudkan keadaulatan pangan dalam sebuah disertasi. Akumulasi hasil penelitian tersebut, digunakan sebagai dasar pijakan untuk merekonstruksi poltik hukum ketahanan pangan nasional agar memilki basis yang kuat pada sistem kearifan lokal masyarakat adat.

The context of REDD+ in Indonesia: Drivers, agents and institutions Giorgio Budi Indrarto,Prayekti Murharjanti,Josi Khatarina,Irvan Pulungan,Feby Ivalerina,Justitia Rahman,Muhar Nala Prana,Ida Aju Pradnya Resosudarmo,Efrian Muharrom,2012-01-01 This country profile reviews the drivers of deforestation and forest degradation in Indonesia, sets out the institutional, political and economic environment within which REDD+ is being implemented in Indonesia, and documents the process of national REDD+ policy development during the period 2007 – early 2012. While Indonesia is committed at the national and international level to addressing climate change through the forestry sector, there are clearly contextual challenges that need to be addressed to create the enabling conditions for REDD+. Some of the major issues include inconsistent legal frameworks, sectoral focus, unclear tenure, consequences of decentralisation, and weak local governance. Despite these challenges, however, REDD+ opens up an opportunity for improvements in forest governance and, more broadly, in land use governance. More democratic political-economic processes in general, greater freedom of civil society and the press, and heightened awareness of environmental issues can help build support and solidify policies in this direction.

Asia-Pacific Perspectives on International Humanitarian Law Suzannah Linton,Tim McCormack,Sandesh Sivakumaran,2019-11-07 Place is inextricably linked to history by way of culture, language, philosophy, faith and the development of worldviews. The richness and depth of experience of the Asia-Pacific region has been under-studied, over-simplified and under-appreciated. This book addresses that lacuna in the subject area of international humanitarian law. Drawing on authoritative perspectives and interviews with experts in and on this topic, including four of the region's most distinguished international judges, forty-one chapters thematically examine the development of international humanitarian law; practice and application of international humanitarian law; implementation and enforcement of international humanitarian law; and looking to the future and enhancing compliance with international humanitarian law. The expert contributors draw out unique features, providing fresh insights to scholarship. Contributions on and from the area also grapple with the regional commitments to humanitarianism generally, illuminating how and why international humanitarian law might be more readily accepted or ignored in armed conflicts in the region.
