Smitty Carol Youkey,2020-01-07 My father, Aubrey Glenn Smith, wrote his biography 2014 at age 90. He is currently living good health in Sheffield, Alabama. The book is an account of his life, calling on memories from his early childhood in poor, rural Alabama, during the Great Depression. He and his family of 3 sisters and one brother were owners of a small family farm that raised cotton and vegetables. Most of the children worked along with their parents in the fields to earn a meager living for the family. A lot of the work fell to Aubrey as the oldest of 5 children. After high school, he volunteered for the US Navy and served in the Pacific during World War II. After discharge, he returned home to marry his sweetheart who lived directly across from him. Their lives became better as they both landed good jobs, Aubrey with Southern Railway (now Norfolk Southern Railway) and his wife Ruby with the Tennessee Valley Authority. The book chronicles a unique time in American history and tells of the struggles and hardships of life during the Great Depression. The hard times are tempered by Aubrey's optimistic personality, his sense of humor, and his belief in God, family, friends, and country.

World Civilizations Peter N. Stearns,1999-10 The primary goal of World Civilizations: The Global Experience, Third Edition is to present a truly global history--one that both discusses the development of the world's leading civilizations and also emphasizes the major stages in the interactions among different peoples and societies. The book examines all the world's civilizations, including those in the Western tradition but also those civilizations sometimes neglected in world history texts--for example, the nomadic societies of Asia, Latin America, and the nations and states of the Pacific Rim. World Civilizations balances this discussion of independent developments in all the world's major civilizations with comparative analysis of the results of international contact. MARKET Appropriate for anyone interested in World History.

Tap Code Carlyle S. Harris,Sara W. Berry,2019-11-05 Discover never-before-told details of POW underground operations during the Vietnam War told through one airman's inspiring story of true love, honor, and courage. Air Force pilot Captain Carlyle Smitty Harris was shot down over Vietnam on April 4, 1965 and taken to the infamous Hoa Lo prison--nicknamed the Hanoi Hilton. For the next eight years, Smitty and hundreds of other American POWs--including John McCain and George Bud Day--suffered torture, solitary confinement, and unimaginable abuse. It was there that Smitty covertly taught many other POWs the Tap Code--an old, long-unused method of communication from World War II. Using the code, they could softly tap messages of encouragement to lonely neighbors and pass along resistance policies from their leaders. The code quickly became a lifeline during their internment. It helped the prisoners boost morale, stay unified, communicate the chain of command, and prevail over a brutal enemy. Meanwhile, back home in the United States, Harris's wife, Louise, raised their three children alone, unsure of her husband's fate for seven long years. One of the first POW wives of the Vietnam War, she became a role model for other military wives by advocating for herself and her children in her husband's absence. Told through both Smitty's and Louise's voices, Tap Code shares the riveting true story of: Ingenuity under pressure Strength and dignity in the face of a frightening enemy The hope, faith, and resolve necessary to endure even the darkest circumstances Praise for Tap Code: Tap Code is an incredible story about two American heroes. Col. Smitty Harris and his wife, Louise, epitomize the definition of commitment--to God, to country, and to family. This tale of extreme perseverance will restore your faith in the human spirit. --Brigadier General John Nichols, USAF The incomprehensibly long ordeal of the Harris family is agonizing. Their love, faith, loyalty, and courage epitomize all that is good about America. --Lt. Col. Orson Swindle, USMC (ret.), POW, Hanoi, 11/11/1966 to 3/4/1973
