More Stories of Stephanie and Friends Richard J. Trilling, 2011 On a cul-de-sac, near a park, lives a little girl named Stephanie and her friends Jason and Bubbe... In the second book of the series, a first airplane ride, a first school snow day, learning how to read and ice skate, and coping with a new baby brother in the family are a few of the firsts Stephanie is about to experience. Along the way, she learns about life, about building friendships, and about the joys of shared adventures. For parents and caregivers everywhere, here is the story of the childhood journey and the growth that takes place in so many different ways. As a business writer for more than thirty-five years, Richard J. Trilling has published books and articles and written successful business proposals for clients. His foray into writing for children, however, did not begin until his grandchildren were born. Until that time he was the family's oral storyteller. In his Stephanie and Friends series, many of the stories have been adapted from experiences his own children went through when they were youngsters. Trilling, who considers himself more of a communicator than a writer, taught at the university level and is about to teach a course to retirees. Originally from Manhattan, New York, he has made his home in Durham, North Carolina, for forty years and is working on publishing his third professional book. What a Girl Wants? Diane Negra, 2009-06-02 From domestic goddess to desperate housewife, What a Girl Wants? explores the importance and centrality of postfeminism in contemporary popular culture. Focusing on a diverse range of media forms, including film, TV, advertising and journalism, Diane Negra holds up a mirror to the contemporary female subject who finds herself centralized in commodity culture to a largely unprecedented degree at a time when Hollywood romantic comedies, chick-lit, and female-centred primetime TV dramas all compete for her attention and spending power. The models and anti-role models analyzed in the book include the chick flick heroines of princess films, makeover movies and time travel dramas, celebrity brides and bravura mothers, 'Runaway Bride' sensation Jennifer Wilbanks, the sex workers, flight attendants and nannies who maintain such a high profile in postfeminist popular culture, the authors of postfeminist panic literature on dating, marriage and motherhood and the domestic gurus who propound luxury lifestyling as a showcase for the 'achieved' female self.
