Handbook on European Fish Farming Ergün Demir,2020-01-16 Aquaculture is one of the fastest way to produce animal protein for growing population in the World. Aquaculture is the art, science, and business of producing aquatic plants and animals useful to humans. Fish farming is an ancient practice and date back as far as 2500 BC. In Europe, fish raised in ponds became a common source of food during the Middle Ages. Today, aquaculture plays a major role in global fish supply. Today, the global community faces financial and economic crisis, climatic changes and the pressing food and nutrition needs of a growing population with finite natural resources. As the world's population continues to increase over the coming decades, and global living standards rise, demand for fish is set to keep on growing. With most wild capture fisheries already fully exploited, much of that new demand will have to be met from aquaculture. According to FAO estimates, more than 50 % of all fish for human consumption now comes from aquaculture. Aquaculture is one of the most resource-efficient ways to produce protein. Fish come out well because, in general, they convert more of the feed they eat into body mass than livestock animals. Salmon is the most feed-intensive farmed fish to convert feed to body weight gain and protein followed by chicken. Aquaculture is the controlled cultivation and harvest of aquatic organisms. Most commonly grown are finfish and shellfish, but other aquatic organisms are also cultivated such as seaweed, microalgae, frogs, turtles, alligators, and endangered species. There are many similarities between aquaculture and agriculture, but there are some important differences as well. Aquaculture, like agriculture, is necessary to meet the food demands of a growing global population with diminishing natural fisheries stocks. Aquaculture and agriculture are both farming. However, aquaculture is farming in the water and therefore requires a different set of knowledge, skill, and technology.

Institutions and Gender Empowerment in the Global Economy Kartik Chandra Roy,Hans-Christer Blomqvist,Cal Clark,2008 Since women account for almost 50 percent of the world's population, the sustainability of development of the global economy can be greatly impaired if the state authorities in individual countries pay less attention to the improvement in the socio-economic status of women relative to men. Improvement in socio-economic status which facilitates empowerment of individuals is greatly dependent on conducive informal institutions and state institutions. This book is the first of its kind to critically examine the role of these institutions in women's empowerment in five continents in the world. The analysis of the role of institutions in individual countries is underpinned by a robust theoretical background presented in the first three chapters. The chapters on individual countries also include a section dealing with recommendations for changes in state policies affecting women's empowerment.

Imagining Ireland Abroad, 1904–1945 Lili Zách,2021-07-29 Offering a unique account of identity formation in Ireland and Central Europe, this book explores and contextualises transfers and comparisons between Ireland and the successor states of the Austro-Hungarian Empire. It reveals how Irish perceptions of borders and identities changed after the (re)birth of the small states of Austria, Hungary and Czechoslovakia and the creation of the Irish Free State. Adopting a transnational approach, the book documents the outward-looking attitude of Irish nationalists and provides original insights into the significance of personal encounters that transcended the borders of nation-states. Drawing on a wide range of official records, private papers, contemporary press accounts and journal articles, Imagining Ireland Abroad, 1904-1945 bridges the gap between historiographies of the East and West by opening up a new perspective on Irish national identity.

The History of Greece Elaine Thomopoulos,2011-12-13 This complete history of Greece documents ancient times to the present, giving specific attention to its emergence as a modern European nation after the destruction, disease, and death Greece suffered during World War II and the subsequent civil war. Modern Greece started as a monarchy in 1832, with just a fraction of the land it now encompasses. The nation of Greece finally forged its identity in the 19th and 20th centuries after emerging from 400 years of Ottoman domination. This book traces the development of Greece from the Minoan civilization of Crete to modern times, telling the story of how Greece added territory and experienced fierce growing pains—including coups, dictatorships, depressions, enormous influxes of immigrants, and wars—before evolving into today's modern democratic state. The History of Greece provides both an overview of Greece's early history as well as an examination of the difficulties that emerged in 2009 and 2010, such as its recent financial problems and social unrest. Quotes from Greek politicians, scholars, poets, and ordinary citizens are included to communicate Greece's national character.

Indie Reframed Linda Badley, 2016-10-27 Explores the films, practitioners, production and distribution contexts that currently represent American women's independent cinema. With the consolidation of indie culture in the 21st century, female filmmakers face an increasingly indifferent climate. Within this sector, women work across all aspects of writing, direction, production, editing and design, yet the dominant narrative continues to construe an amateurish white male auteurs such as Quentin Tarantino or Wes Anderson as the face of indie discourse. Defying the formulaic myths of the mainstream chick flick and the ideological and experimental radicalism of feminist counter-cinema alike, women's indie filmmaking is neither ironic, popular nor political enough to be readily absorbed into pre-existing categories. This ground-breaking collection, the first sustained examination of the work of female practitioners within American independent cinema, reclaims the difference of female indie filmmaking. Through a variety of case studies of directors, writers and producers such as Ava DuVernay, Lena Dunham and Christine Vachon, contributors explore the innovation of a range of female practitioners by attending to the sensibilities, ideologies and industrial practices that distinguish their work while embracing the in-between space in which the narratives they represent and embody can be revealed. Key Features Covers American women's independent cinema since the late 1970s. Analyses the work of acclaimed but critically overlooked female practitioners such as Kelly Reichardt, Christine Vachon, Miranda July, Kasi Lemmons, Nicole Holofcener, Mira Nair, Lisa Cholodenko, Megan Ellison, Lynn Shelton, Ava DuVernay, Mary Harron and Debra Granik. Distinguishes four different approaches to analysing women's independent cinema through: production and industry perspectives; genre and other classificatory modalities; political, cultural, social and professional identities; and collaborative and collectivist practices. Contributors John Alberti, Northern Kentucky University; Linda Badley, Middle Tennessee State University; Cynthia Baron, Bowling Green State University; Shelley Cobb, University of Southampton; Corinn Columpar, University of Toronto; Chris Holmlund, University of Tennessee-Knoxville; Geoff King, Brunel University, London; Christina Lane, University of Miami; James Lyons, University of Exeter; Kathleen A. Film Marketing into the Twenty-First Century Nolwenn Mingant, Cecilia Tirtaine, Joël Augros, 2019-07-25 How do you sell British humour to a French audience? Could piracy actually be good for the film business? Why are The Hobbit's revolutionary technologies not mentioned in some adverts? Exploring these questions and many more, Film Marketing into the Twenty-First Century draws on insights from renowned film academics and leading industry professionals to chart the evolution of modern film marketing. The first part of the book focuses on geographical considerations, showing how marketers have to adapt their strategies locally as films travel across borders. The second covers new marketing possibilities offered by the Internet, as Vine, Facebook and other participative websites open new venues for big distributors and independents alike. Straddling practical and theoretical concerns and including case studies that take us from Nollywood to Peru, this book provides an accessible introduction to the key issues at stake for film marketing in a global era.

Manuale Europeo di acquacoltura Ergün Demir, 2020-01-16 L'acquacoltura è uno dei modi più veloci di produrre proteine animali per la sempre crescente popolazione mondiale. L'acquacoltura è l'arte, la scienza e l'attività economica di produrre pesci e piante acquatiche utili agli esseri umani. L'allevamento del pesce è una pratica antica, risalente al 2500 A.C. In Europa, l'allevamento del pesce in stagni divenne una fonte di cibo durante il medioevo. Oggi l'acquacoltura svolge un ruolo importante nella fornitura globale di pesce. Attualmente l'umanità sta affrontando una crisi economica e finanziaria globale, deve affrontare il cambiamento climatico, la costante crescita di bisogni alimentari della popolazione e le limitate risorse naturali. Poiché la popolazione è in continuo aumento e gli standard di vita vanno innalzandosi, nei decenni a venire la richiesta di pesce continuerà ad aumentare ed essendo la pesca di cattura ormai sfruttata al massimo, questa richiesta dovrà essere compensata con l'acquacoltura. Secondo le stime della FAO, più del 50 per cento del pesce per consumo umano è fornito dall'acquacoltura, che è una delle risorse più efficienti per la produzione di proteine. I pesci allevati in l'acquacoltura crescono meglio perché riescono a convertire meglio quello che mangiano in massa corporea. Il salmone è la specie di pesce di allevamento che ha il più alto tasso di conversione dei mangimi in aumento di peso corporeo e proteine, seguito dal pollame. L'acquacoltura è l'allevamento e la raccolta controllata di organismi acquatici. I più comunemente allevati sono i pesci pinnati e i crostacei, ma anche altri organismi acquatici come alghe, micro alghe, rane, tartarughe, alligatori e alcune specie a rischio di estinzione. Ci sono molte similitudini tra acquacoltura e agricoltura ma anche importanti differenze. L'acquacoltura, come l'agricoltura, è necessaria per far fronte alla richiesta di alimenti da parte di una popolazione globale che è in costante crescita a fronte di risorse naturali che vanno riducendosi. Acquacoltura e agricoltura sono forme di allevamento, ma l'acquacoltura è un allevamento in acqua e quindi richiede conoscenze, abilità e tecnologie specifiche.

Avrupa balık yetiştiriciliği el kitabı Ergün Demir,2020-01-16 Kültür balıkçılığı, artan dünya nüfusu için hayvansal protein üretmenin en hızlı yollarından birisidir. Kültür balıkçılığı, insanlar için faydalı su bitkilerini ve hayvanlarını üretme sanatı, bilimi ve işidir. Eski bir uygulama olan balık yetiştiriciliğinin geçmişi, M.Ö. 2500'li yıllara dayanır. Avrupa'da göletlerde yetiştirilen balıklar Ortaçağ boyunca bir gıda kaynağı olmuştur. Bugün kültür balıkçılığı, küresel balık tedariki açısından önemli bir rol oynamaktadır. Toplumlar bugün mali ve ekonomik krizle, iklim değişiklikleriyle ve tükenbilir doğal kaynaklara sahip ve giderek artan bir nüfusun gıda ve beslenme ihtiyaçlarındaki artışla uğraşmaktadır. Önümüzdeki yıllarda dünya nüfusunun ve yaşam standartlarının artmasıyla balığa olan talep de artacaktır. Balık avlama alanlarının çoğunun şu anda tam kapasiteyle kullanıldığı düşünüldüğünde, bu yeni talebin kültür balıkçılığından karşılanması gerekecektir. FAO tarafından açıklanan tahmini rakamlara göre, insanların tükettiği balıkların % 50'den fazlası kültür balıkçılığı sektöründen elde edilmektedir. Kültür balıkçılığı, protein üretimi açısından en etkin yöntemlerden biridir. Genel olarak, balıklar besi hayvanlarına göre yedikleri yemin daha büyük bir kısmını vücut kitlesine çevirmeleri nedeniyle yemden daha iyi yararlanarak daha karlı yetiştirilmektedir. Somon, tavuktan sonra yediği yemi vücut kitlesine ve proteine en fazla çevirebilen, yemden en iyi faydalanan balık türüdür. Kültür balıkçılığı, su organizmalarının kontrollü olarak yetiştirilmesi ve hasat edilmesidir. En fazla yetiştirilen türler balık ve deniz kabukluları olmakla beraber, deniz yosunu, mikroalg, kurbağa, kaplumbağa, timsah ve nesli tükenmek üzere olan türler gibi diğer suda yaşayan organizmalar da yetiştirilmektedir. Kültür balıkçılığı ile tarım arasında benzerlikler olmakla birlikte, bazı önemli farklılıklar da bulunmaktadır. Tarım gibi kültür balıkçılığı da doğal balık stokları azalmakta olan, ancak giderek artan Dünya nüfusunun yiyecek ihtiyaçlarını karşılamak için gereklidir. Hem kültür balıkçılığı, hem tarım bir tür çiftçiliktir. Ancak, kültür balıkçılığı suda yapılan bir çiftçilik türü olduğundan, farklı bilgi, beceri ve teknoloji setleri gerektirmektedir.
