Spin-stand Microscopy of Hard Disk Data Isaak D. Mayergoyz,Chun Tse,2010-07-07 This book provides an in-depth exposition of spin-stand microscopy of hard disk data which is a new technique recently developed and extensively tested by the authors of the book. Spin-stand microscopy is the first magnetic imaging technique where imaging is performed ex-situ on a rotating disk mounted on a spin-stand. This technique is one of the fastest scanning-based microscopy techniques. It is non-invasive and has nano-scale resolution. For these reasons, it provides unique capabilities for the visualization of magnetization patterns recorded on hard disks. This book is self-contained and it covers in sufficient details the basic facts of magnetic data storage technology, the principles and theory of spin-stand microscopy, its experimental implementations, as well as its applications in hard disk diagnostics, imaging of overwritten patterns, computer forensics of hard disk files, and data-dependent magnetic thermal relaxations of recorded magnetization patterns. This book will be a valuable reference for the magnetic data storage community, magnetic microscopy professionals as well as engineers and scientists involved in computer data forensics, commercial data recovery, and the design of archival data storage systems. Conceptual novelty of the technique and the demonstration of its wide scope of applications Detailed exposition of the principles of spin-stand magnetic microscopy Comprehensive discussions of novel image reconstruction techniques Demonstration of high resolution spin-stand images of hard disk data Presentation of sector-by-sector ex-situ forensics of hard disk files Extensive studies of data-dependent thermal relaxations of magnetization patterns recorded on hard disks

Real-Time and Embedded Computing Systems and Applications Jing Chen,Seongsoo Hong,2004-04-08 This volume contains the 37 papers presented at the 9th International Conference on Real-Time and Embedded Computing Systems and Applications (RT-CSA 2003). RTCSA is an international conference organized for scientists and researchers from both academia and industry to hold intensive discussions on advancing technologies topics on real-time systems, embedded systems, ubiquitous/pervasive computing, and related topics. RTCSA 2003 was held at the Department of Electrical Engineering of National Cheng Kung University in Taiwan. Paper submissions were well distributed over the various aspects of real-time computing and embedded system technologies. There were more than 100 participants from all over the world. The papers, including 28 regular papers and 9 short papers are grouped into the categories of scheduling, networking and communication, embedded systems, pervasive/ubiquitous computing, systems and architectures, resource management, ?le systems and databases, performance analysis, and tools and development. The grouping is basically in accordance with the conference program. Earlier versions of these papers were published in the conference proceedings. However, some papers in this volume have been modified or improved by the authors, in various aspects, based on comments and feedback received at the conference. It is our sincere hope that researchers and developers will benefit from these papers. We would like to thank all the authors of the papers for their contribution. We thank the members of the program committee and the reviewers for their excellent work in evaluating the submissions. We are also very grateful to all the members of the organizing committees for their help, guidance and support.

Test Results for Disk Imaging Tools Sarah V. Hart, 2014-10-17 The Computer Forensics Tool Testing (CFTT) project is the joint effort of the National Institute of Justice, the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST), the U. S. Department of Defense, the Technical Support Working Group, and other related agencies. The objective of the CFTT project is to provide measurable assurance to practitioners, researchers, and other applicable users that the tools used in computer forensics investigations provide accurate results. Accomplishing this requires the development of specifications and test methods for computer forensics tools and subsequent testing of specific tools against those specifications.
